The 1972 Envoy

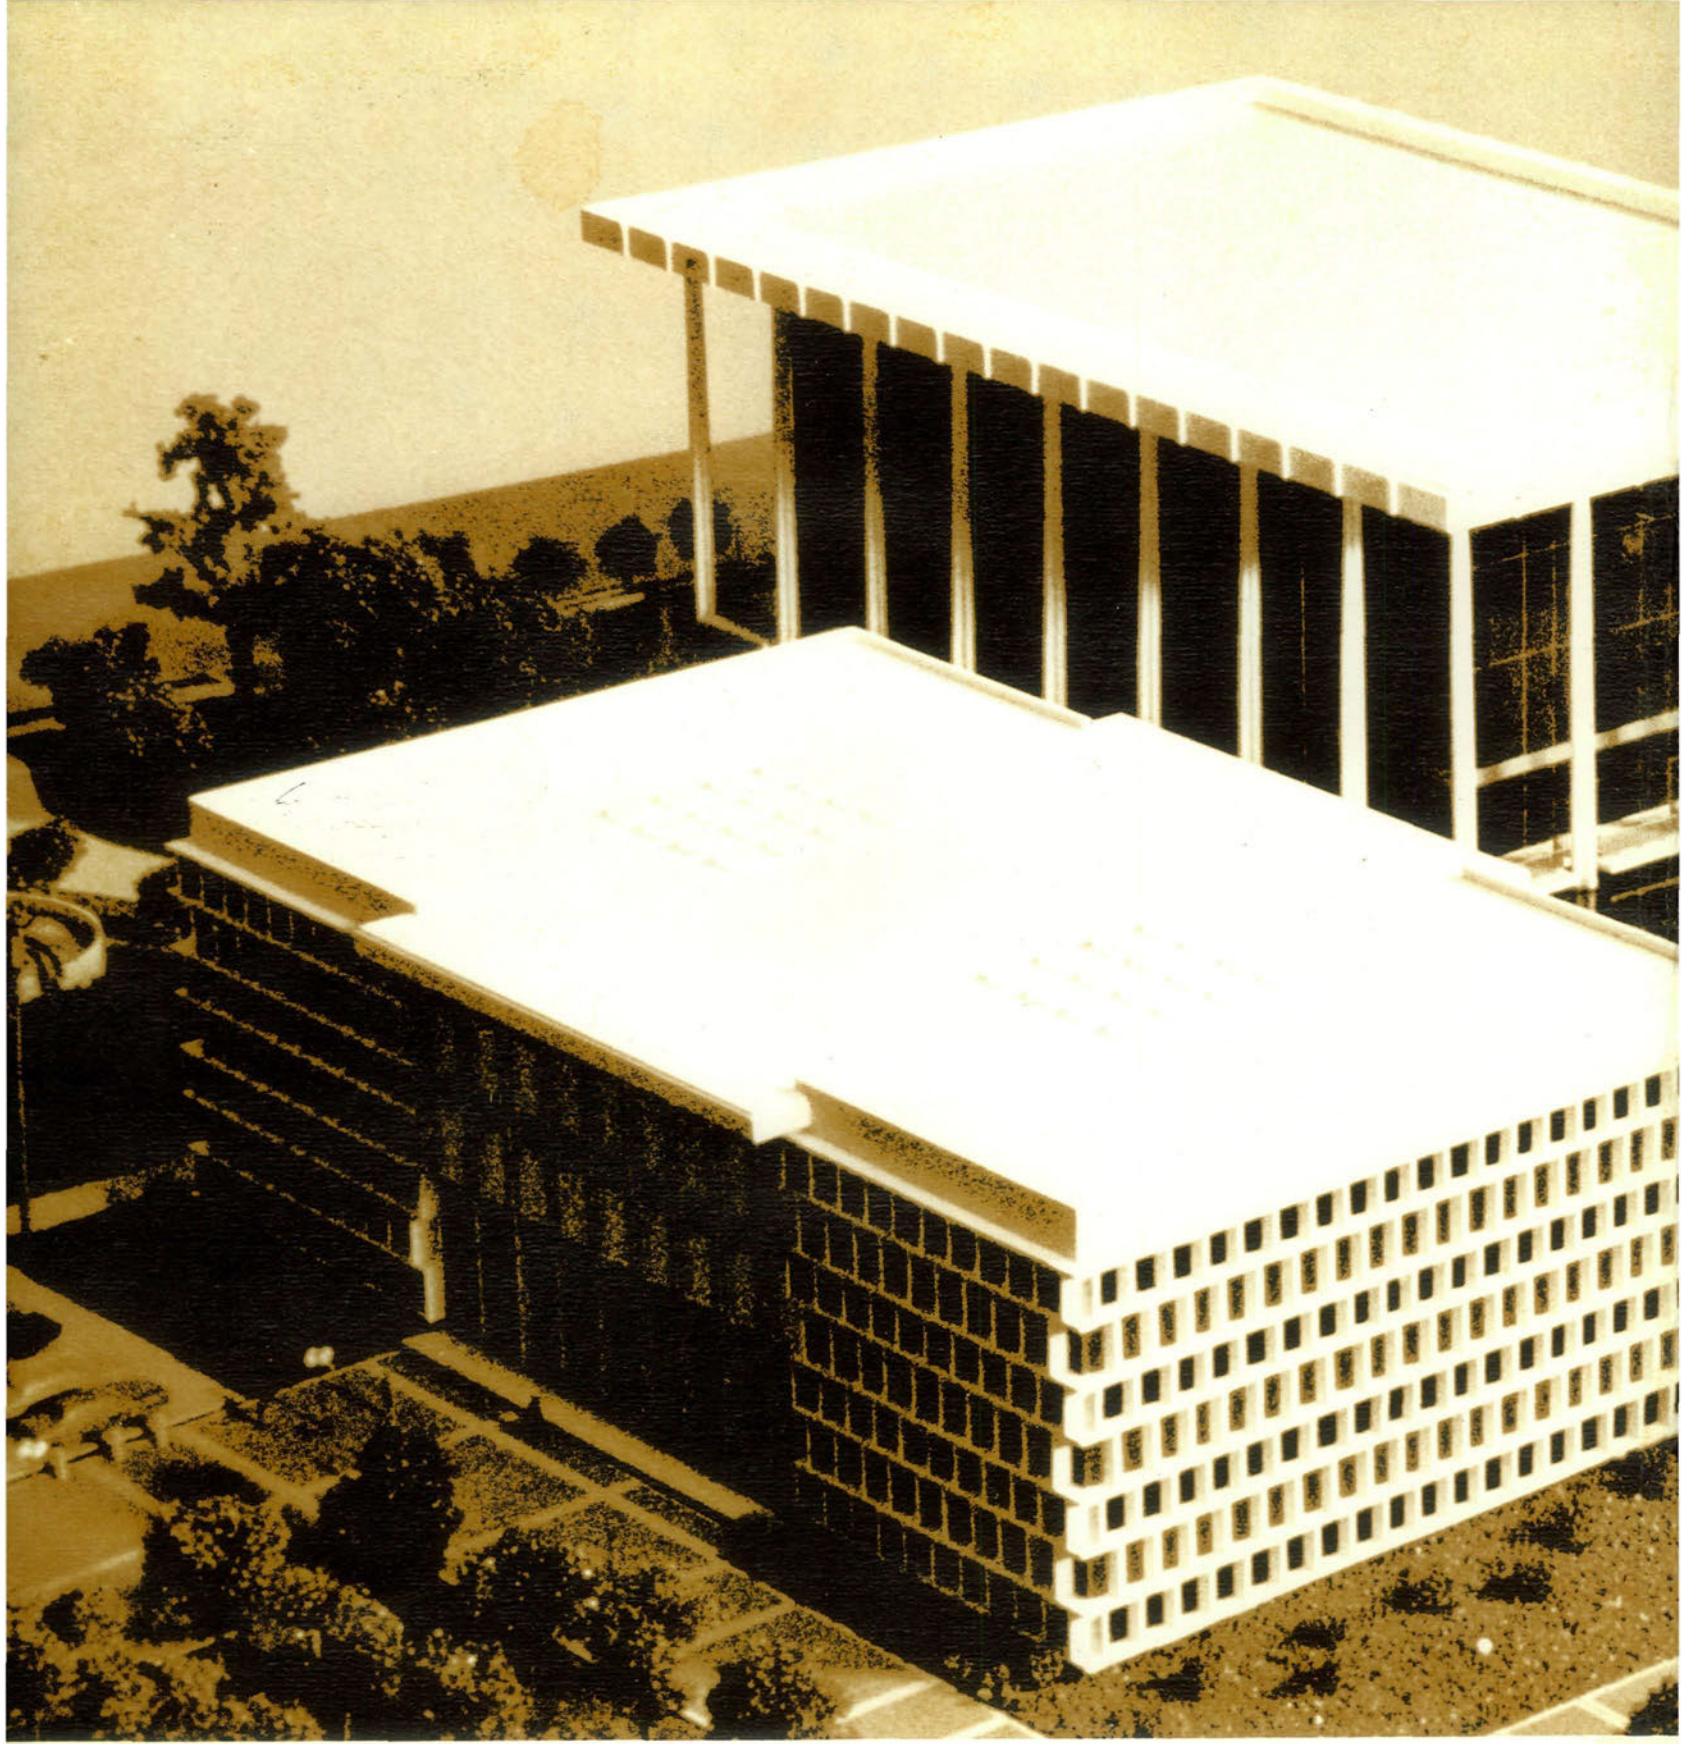

THE ANNUAL PICTORIAL RECORD OF AMBASSADOR COLLEGE

Introduction

Many people from around the world have visited at least one of the three international campuses of Ambassador College. These visitors have included top-government officials, leading educators and businessmen, even royalty. They all have remarked that Ambassador is indeed a uniquely different institution—not just in the impressive buildings, not just in the beautifully landscaped lawns, colorful gardens and fountains, and outstanding works of art and sculpture. Not just in the massive publishing and broadcasting operations, but in the radiant, expressive, smiling and happy Ambassador students.

There is a reason for this. Ambassador College recognizes there has been a tragic Missing Dimension in education. That Missing Dimension involves the very basics of knowledge: the meaning and purpose of human existence; the discernment of right and true values; and a knowledge of the way to peace, happiness, prosperity, and universal well-being.

Students at Ambassador are taught how to live—how to be happy and lead thrilling, productive lives—as well as how to earn a living. They learn the meaning of character and integrity.

This is the education Ambassador College is also teaching to all peoples at all levels, worldwide. Government leaders, presidents, kings from many nations and countries—in Europe, the Middle East, India, Nepal, Thailand, Japan—have requested help and advice from officials of Ambassador College. That is because Ambassador recognizes the significant relationship between world conditions and education—as well as the responsibility of education for those conditions.

In the following pages, join us for a glimpse into the world's most exciting and challenging educational system—the work of Ambassador College—pioneering in TRUE EDUCATION WORLDWIDE.

RIGHT: Every graduating senior ponders the future implications of his commencement exercises.

MIDDLE: Pat reflects the satisfaction and joy that four years of Ambassador College create in a graduate.

OPPOSITE: Marti Jewsbury receives well earned congratulations from family and friends.

Commencement 1971

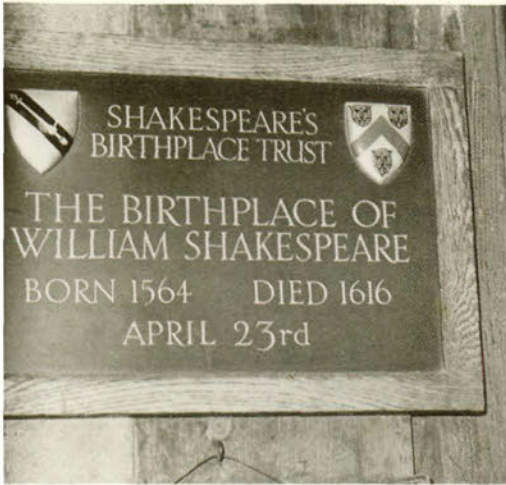

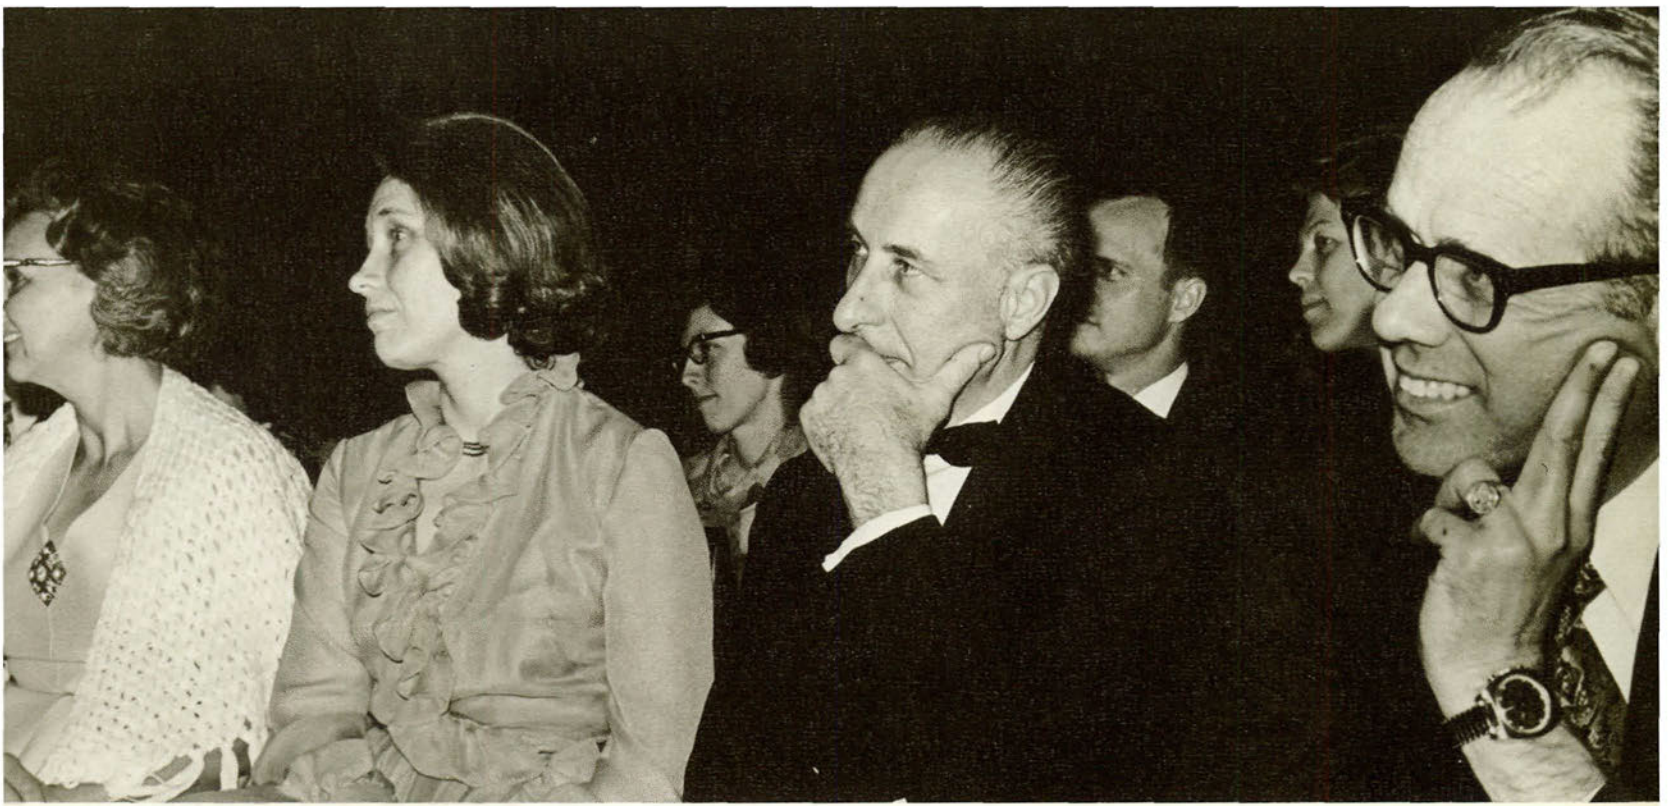

Graduation Day is a time for reflection, for relief from the year-long pressures now past, and for contemplating the future. A new life is about to begin based upon the solid foundations built during four busy years. Equipped with a sure hope, sincere dedication to a right way of living, intensity of purpose, and a positive goal to achieve, graduating members of the class of 1972 are prepared to accept the challenges of a world filled with turmoil, and to take their places as leaders in a better world tomorrow.

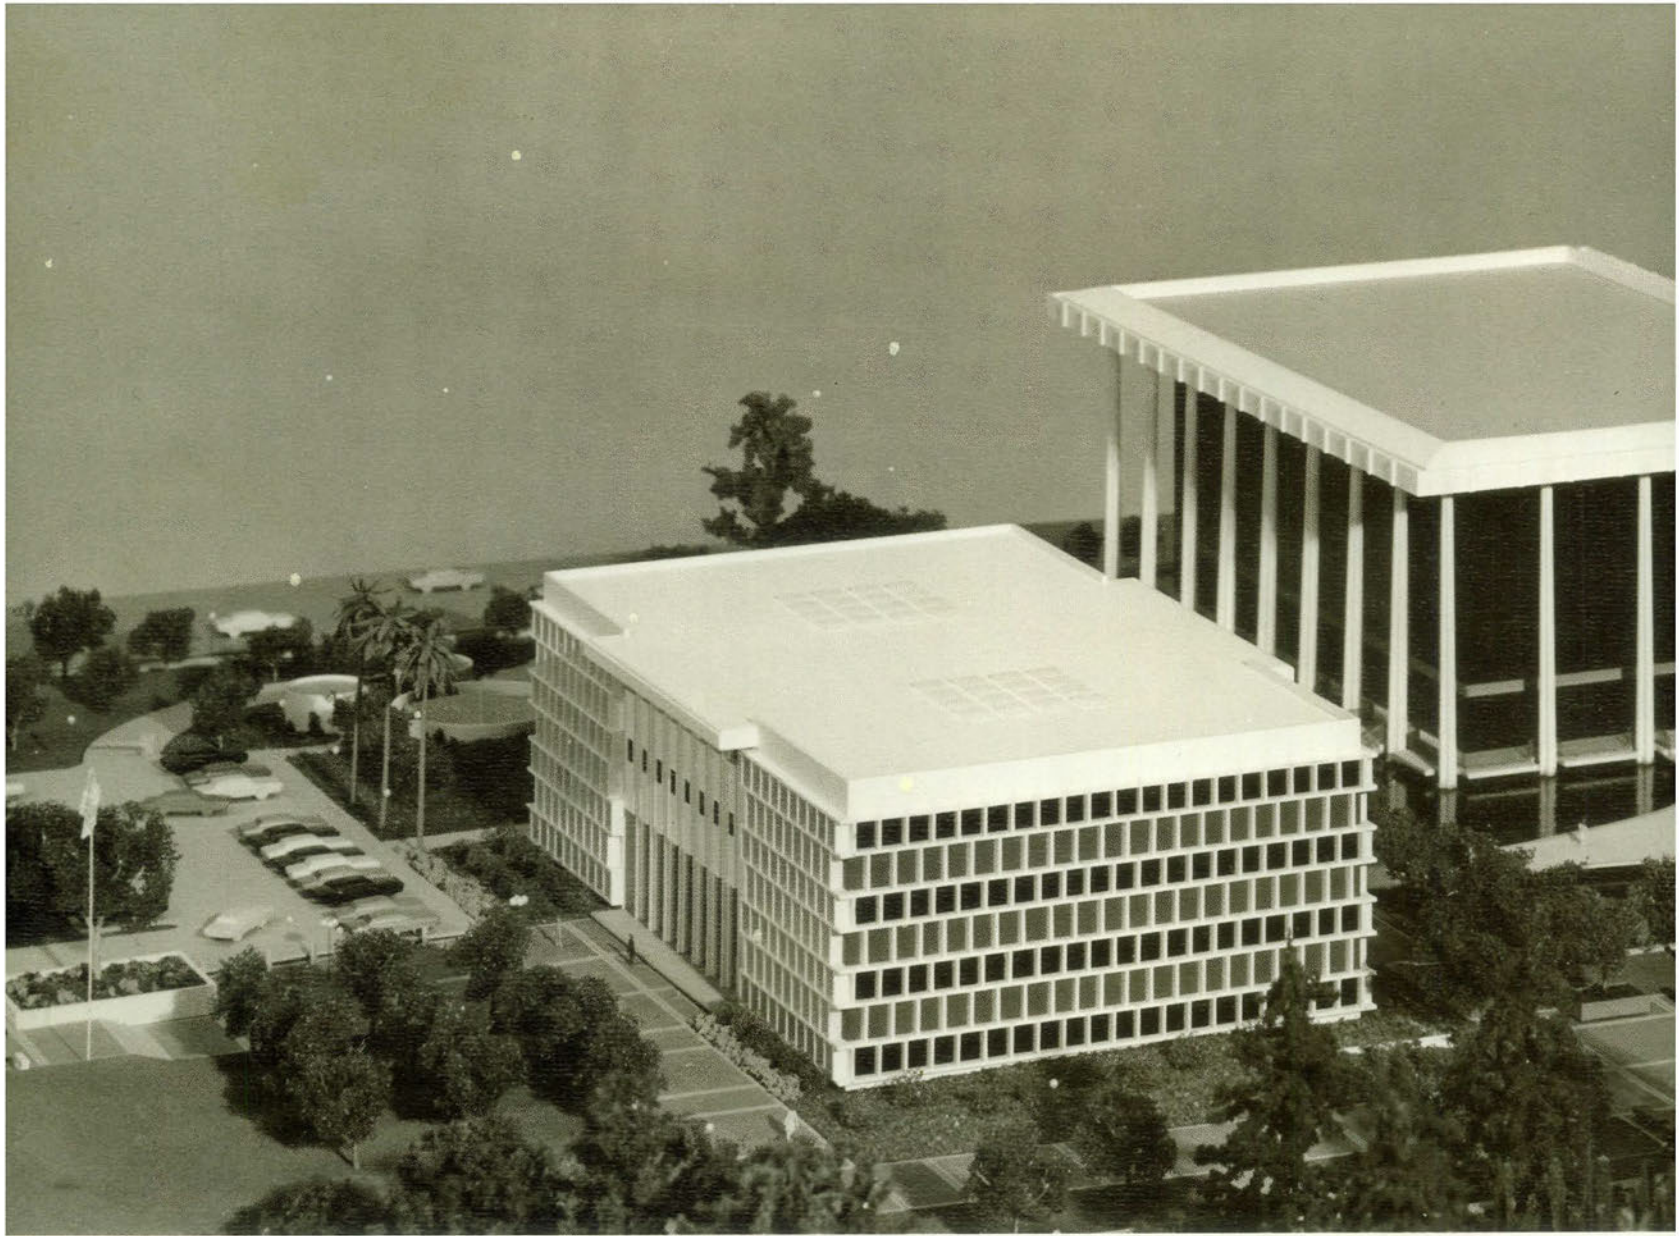

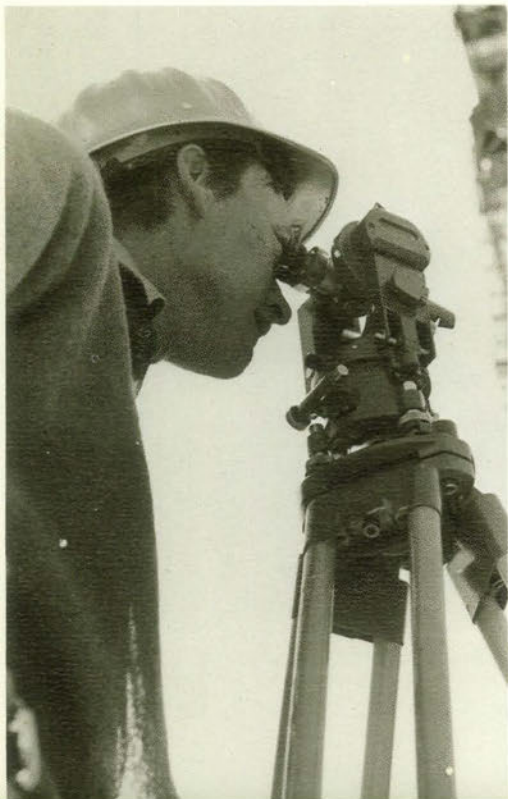

Scramble

The Auditorium takes its place in the center of a three-building complex, flanked by the Hall of Administration to the left and our Student Center on the right.

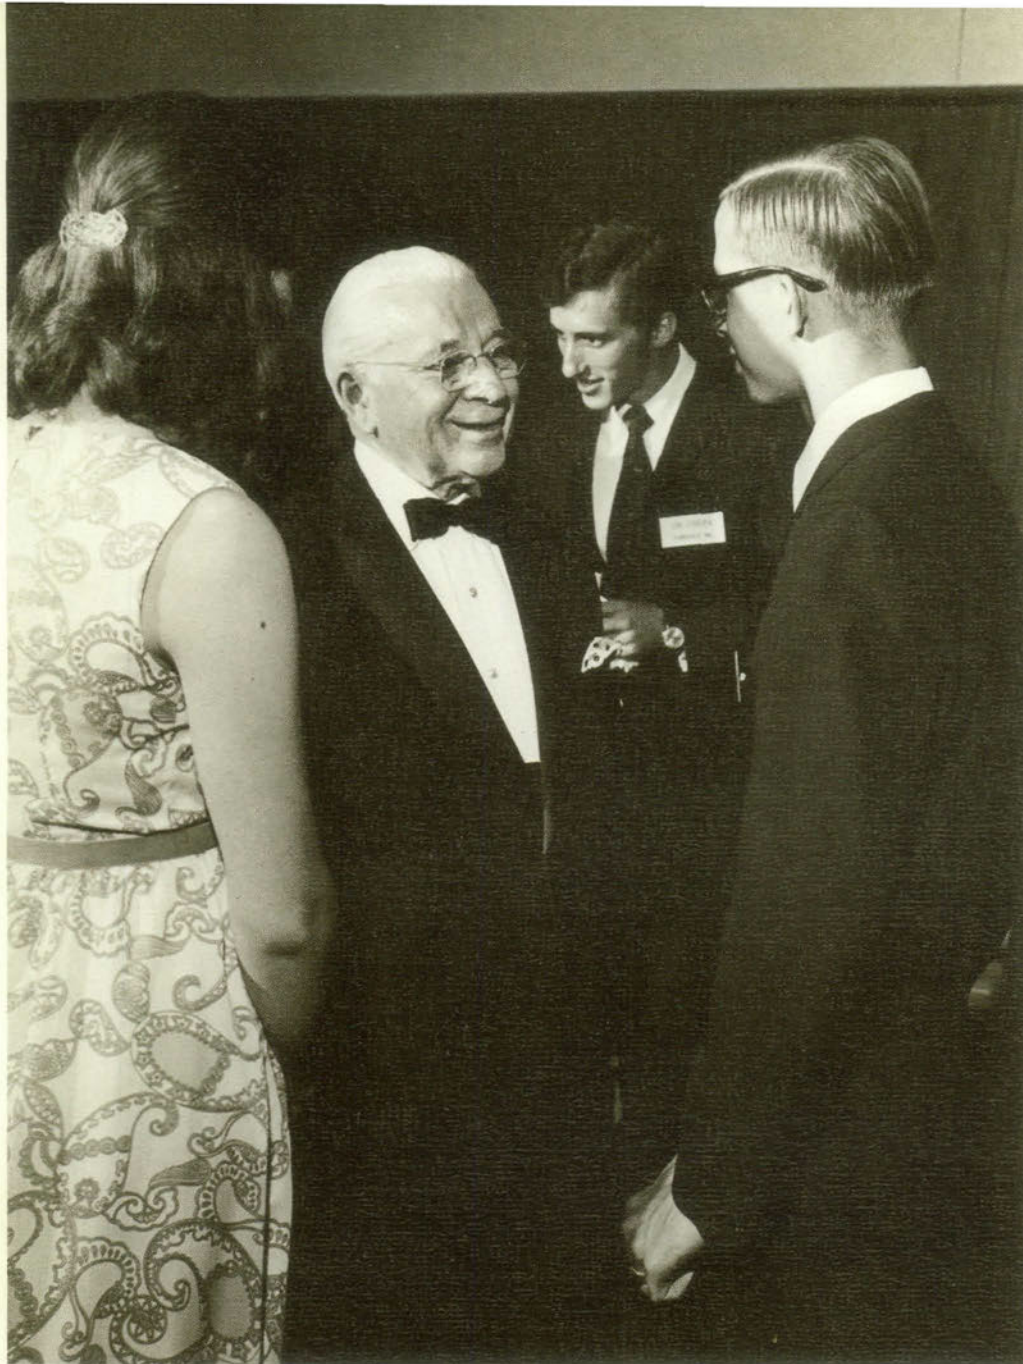

The Ambassador College Auditorium

With anticipated completion and opening scheduled for early 1974, the Auditorium-Concert Hall will be a crowning jewel in the master plan of the Pasadena Campus. The multi-use Auditorium will accommodate 1250 people in mainfloor and balcony seating for programs ranging from lectures and meetings to all types of musical and dramatic presentations. Total area of the Auditorium will be 52,000 square feet, including a full working stage, orchestra pit, elevator, demountable orchestra shell, rehearsal rooms, dressing room and green room to be used for live performances. A fully equipped projection room, sound and light control facilities, along with conduits for closed-circuit TV complete the mechanical installation and auxiliary facilities. Ranking in quality of materials, completeness of stage rigging, lighting and performance facilities with the most advanced concert halls built in the U.S. during the last decade, the new Auditorium will be one of the most elegant formal public buildings of its type ever constructed in Southern California.

Formal Occasions

The academic year is punctuated by several sparkling evenings of fun and formality, all welcome breaks in the busy student routine. From the Faculty Reception to the Graduation Ball, these occasions round out the full schedule of Ambassador activities and give students and faculty an opportunity to meet socially as well as academically. More than simply a dance or an evening's entertainment, these occasions are a vital part of the total educational concept of Ambassador College.

OPPOSITE: Formal social occasions such as this add necessary balance and depth to an Ambassador education.

A Whirl of Activities

Ambassador Clubs

Ambassador Clubs play an important role in the college life of nearly all men students. Patterned after the Toastmasters' International, each is a formal dinner club with about 25 members. Their goal is developing effective speaking with emphasis on personality, leadership, wisdom and an understanding of current events. In weekly meetings, students learn to think on their feet and to express themselves under a variety of circumstances, which comprise a practical aid to developing speaking skills learned in class.

RIGHT: Earl Williams' Thursday night "C" Ambassador Club responds enthusiastically to a somewhat less than serious proposal!
BELOW: Pre-club vocal exercises are still as popular today with aspiring speakers as they were 20 years ago.
BELOW MIDDLE: Big Sandy Sophomore Dan Gates drives a solid point home in a formal speech during one of his Ambassador Club meetings.
BELOW OPPOSITE: The stimulation that comes from matching wits in a formal speaking situation can be seen on the faces of members at any club meeting.

Women's Clubs

Women's Clubs are designed to develop poise, wholesome charm and feminine leadership in Ambassador women. While the club motto is "Learn to serve with femininity, hospitality, and culture," topics discussed are not limited, ranging all the way from the sexual revolution to childrearing to practical home management in an inflated economy. Women's Clubs realize the need for the modern woman to be competent not only in the traditional role of the woman but also in every way and in every area that modern life demands—to be a feminine leader prepared for any task ahead.

TOP LEFT: Club activities are well in hand this evening with Mr. Bill McDowell serving as Overall Coordinator and Bonnie Bunting presiding.

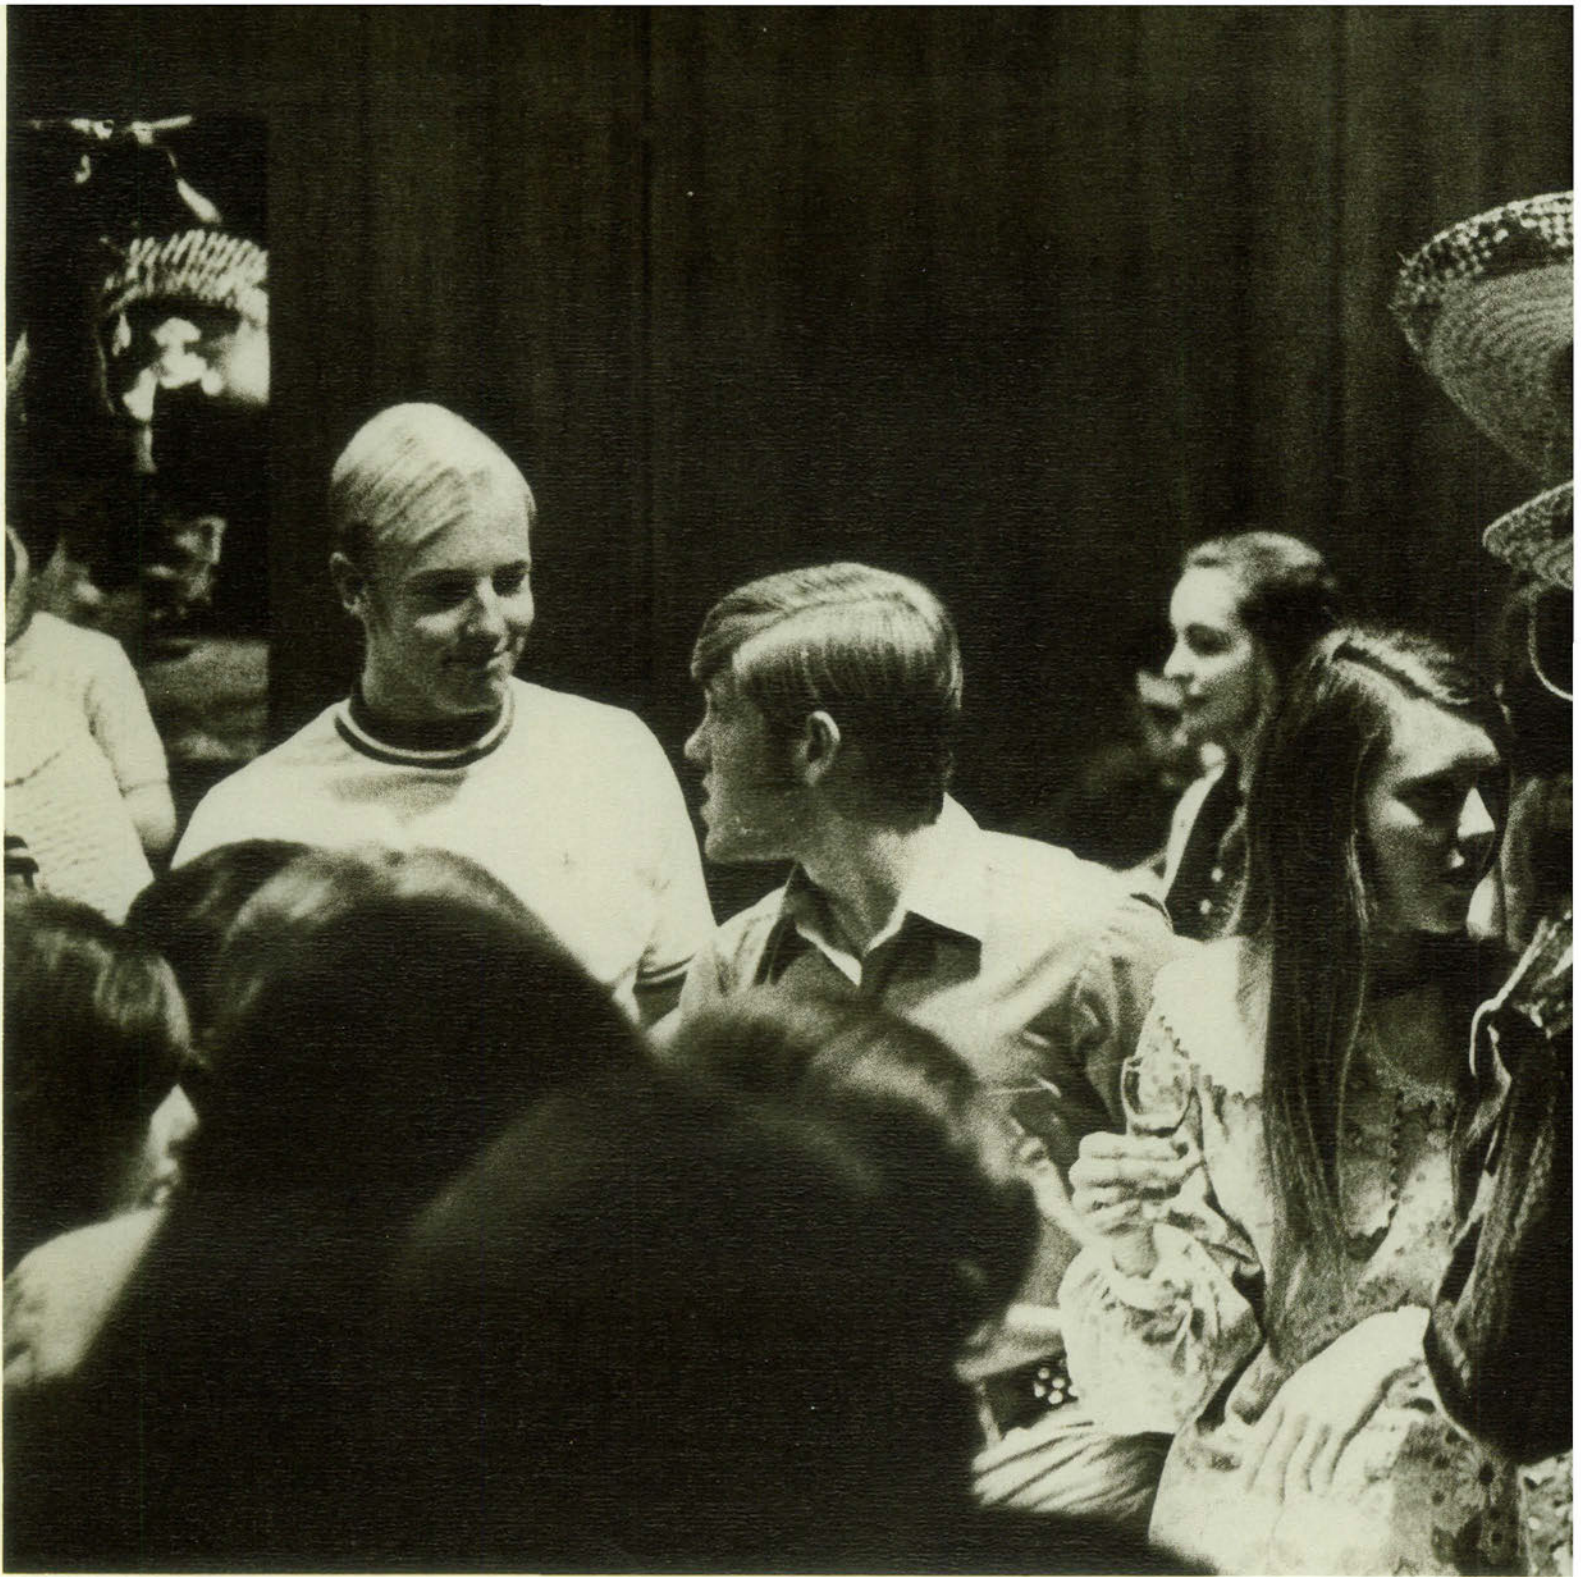

FAR LEFT: The opportunities to contribute to Women's Club are almost endless . . . ask Snoopy!

OPPOSITE ABOVE: The annual Women's Club Tea is a combination reunion and general tête-à-tête for wives of graduates sponsored and hosted by the current Women's Club.

OPPOSITE BELOW: The annual Tea allows Ambassador women opportunities for learning the finer points of formal entertaining.

Foreign Language Clubs

Whether he is studying French, German, Hebrew, Italian, Japanese or Spanish, each student of foreign language must attend a club where not a word of English is to be heard the entire evening. Each club meets once a month with menu, decorations, songs and entertainment depicting the native lands of that particular language. These enjoyable and informative clubs are a valuable tool in developing proficiency in the use of a foreign tongue.

LEFT: Spanish Club, complete with its "Caballeros" and travel posters is as colorful as any of our foreign language clubs.

BELOW LEFT: Hebrew Club has developed into one of our most active and exciting foreign language clubs.

BELOW: Dennis Pebworth as Faculty Coordinator for Spanish Club makes an evaluation.

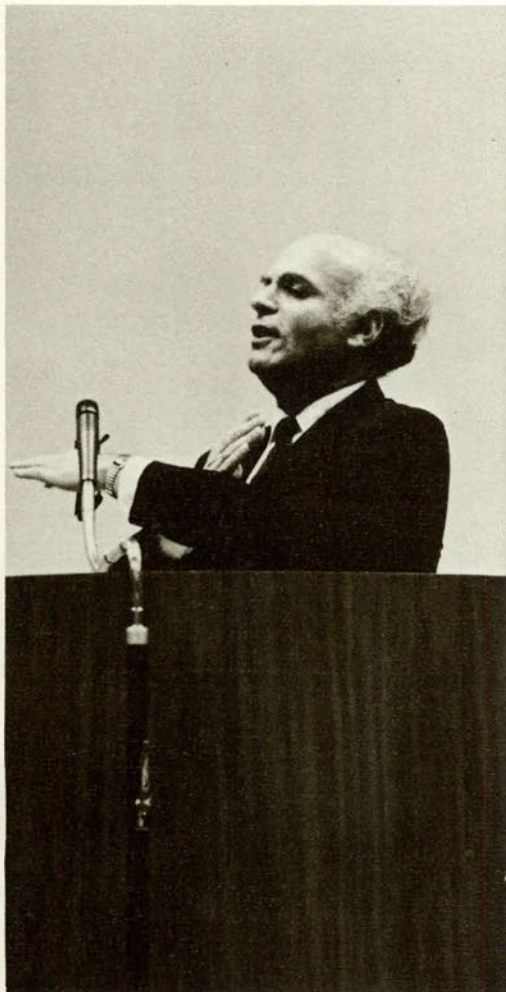

Forums and Assemblies

Established by Mr. Herbert W. Armstrong in the early years of the college, forums and assemblies afford opportunity for the entire student body and faculty to meet together twice weekly. The Tuesday afternoon Forum enables the Administration to discuss current campus matters with students, and during "open forums" the students also participate. In addition, many subjects or speakers are of such general interest and value that they are presented during the regular Thursday afternoon Assembly. The assemblies are generally presented by faculty members, but often guest lecturers from around the world take the podium, adding an international perspective.

OPPOSITE TOP: Poise, charm and clothing design are the elements to be mastered for the various Home Economics Department fashion shows.

TOP: Explorer John Goddard chats with faculty members and students following the film presentation of his travels through Turkey.

Classes

Underclass and Upperclass

The underclass years are largely times of preparation for more advanced studies later on. Many basic requirements are completed in these beginning years, helping students to develop knowledge and experience which will guide the direction of studies in years to come. These underclass years form a solid foundation for the new student and prepare him for the tougher academic requirements of college's final years. Upper division courses allow more diversification of studies, and the chance to specialize in many areas. The tougher challenges of these advanced studies test the academic mettle of both juniors and seniors.

Classes

Field Trips

Ramblin' Around

Classroom instruction provides only part of total education. Ambassador College students may be found outside the classroom from Moscow to Tasmania, searching, observing, often simply experiencing the flavor of the unfamiliar and new. With purpose and proper planning, off-campus travels are a stimulating and helpful means of educating young people to the facts, problems, solutions and joys of the world — not by theory and academics alone, but by personal, first-hand examination and involvement.

BELOW RIGHT: Time out! Stop the battle! It's time for lunch!

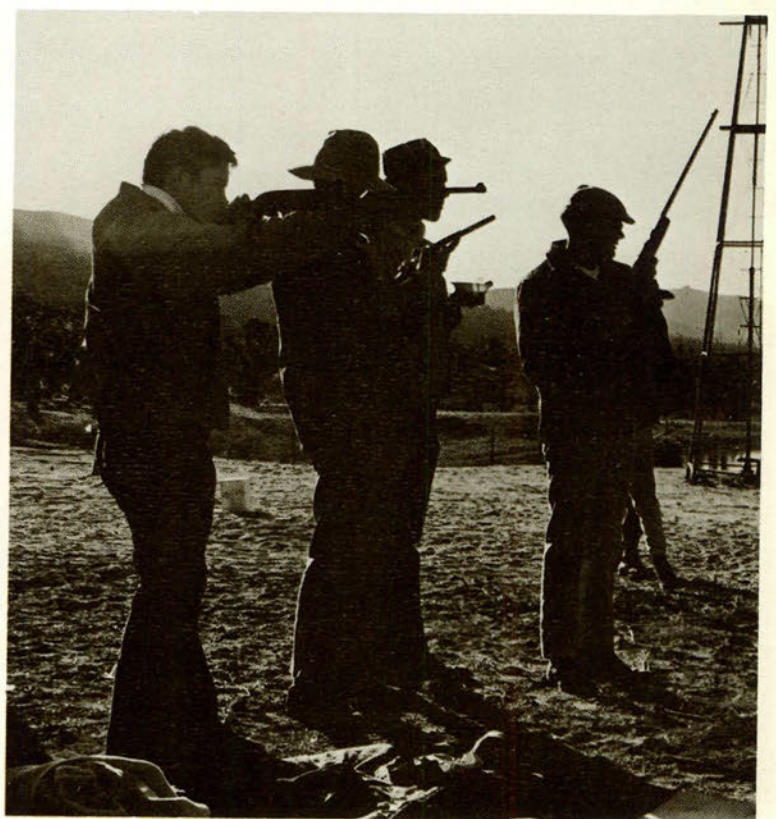

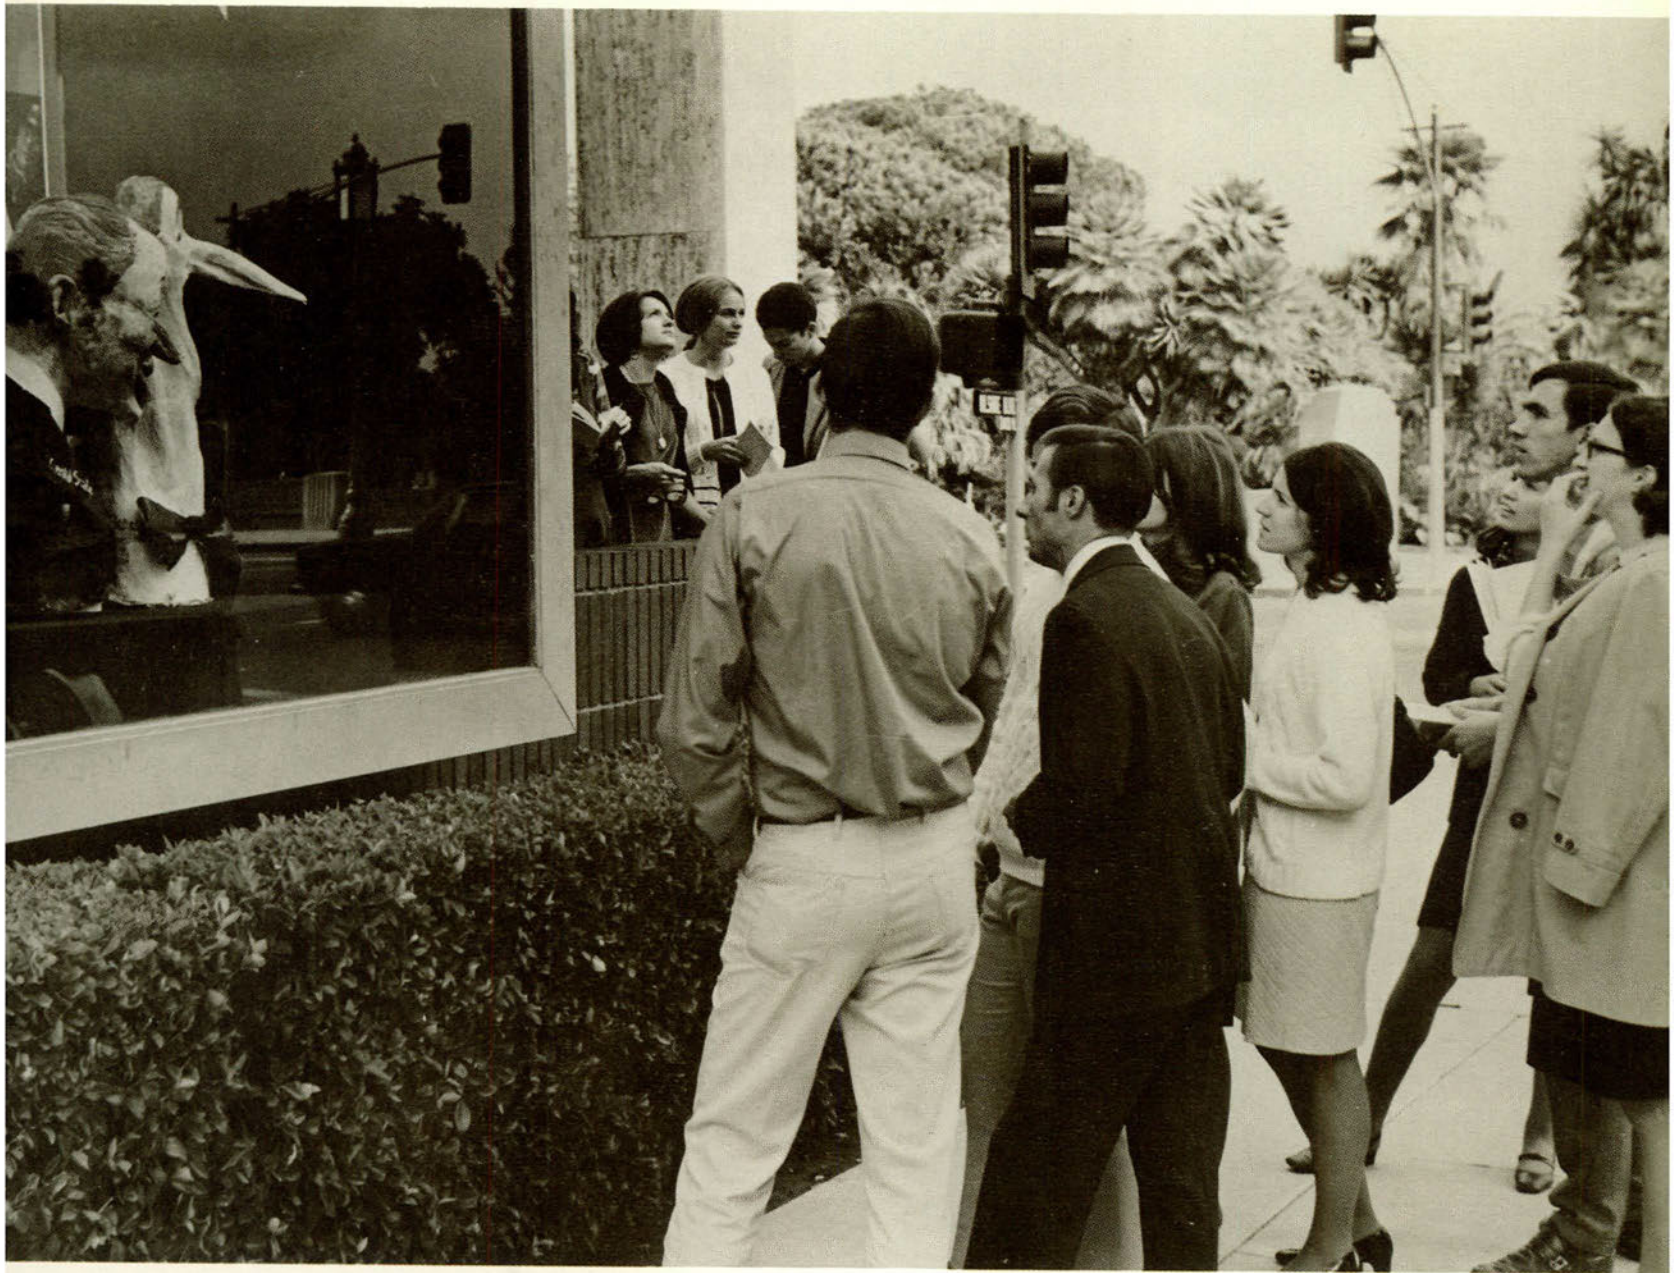

BOTTOM: How can our Disneyland artist miss with a model as willing as Cindy posing for him?

"Britons Afield"

TOP MIDDLE: Mr. Sonderreger comments on the details of a model at Coventry Cathedral.

ABOVE RIGHT: Remember, Mary, the key is "heel-toe" and don't forget to watch the tach!

OPPOSITE: The opportunity to experience the grand tradition of Great Britain is made available to every student who is fortunate enough to study on our Bricket Wood campus.

Home Economics

a. mirage

Home Management

Practical experience in homemaking is available for many girls in the Home Management classes. From scissors to saucepans, Ambassador women students are given a full introduction to the art of home economics. On all three campuses she can learn to choose the best, most economical and purest foods, plan a balanced and efficient menu, and learn to shop economically.

Fashion Shows

Each Clothing Selection and Design student is given the opportunity to express individual personality and flair through the personal selection of her own patterns and fabrics. Final satisfaction is gained by modelling her own creations carefully chosen and sewn from start to finish.

Clothing Design

LEFT: The excitement and anticipation of choosing the pattern creates a high point in any sewing project.

BELOW: Bricket Wood's Diane Chambers spends an enjoyable hour finishing the latest addition to her wardrobe.

OPPOSITE: Miss Kathryn Johnson provides very capable sewing advice as one of our Home Economics instructors.

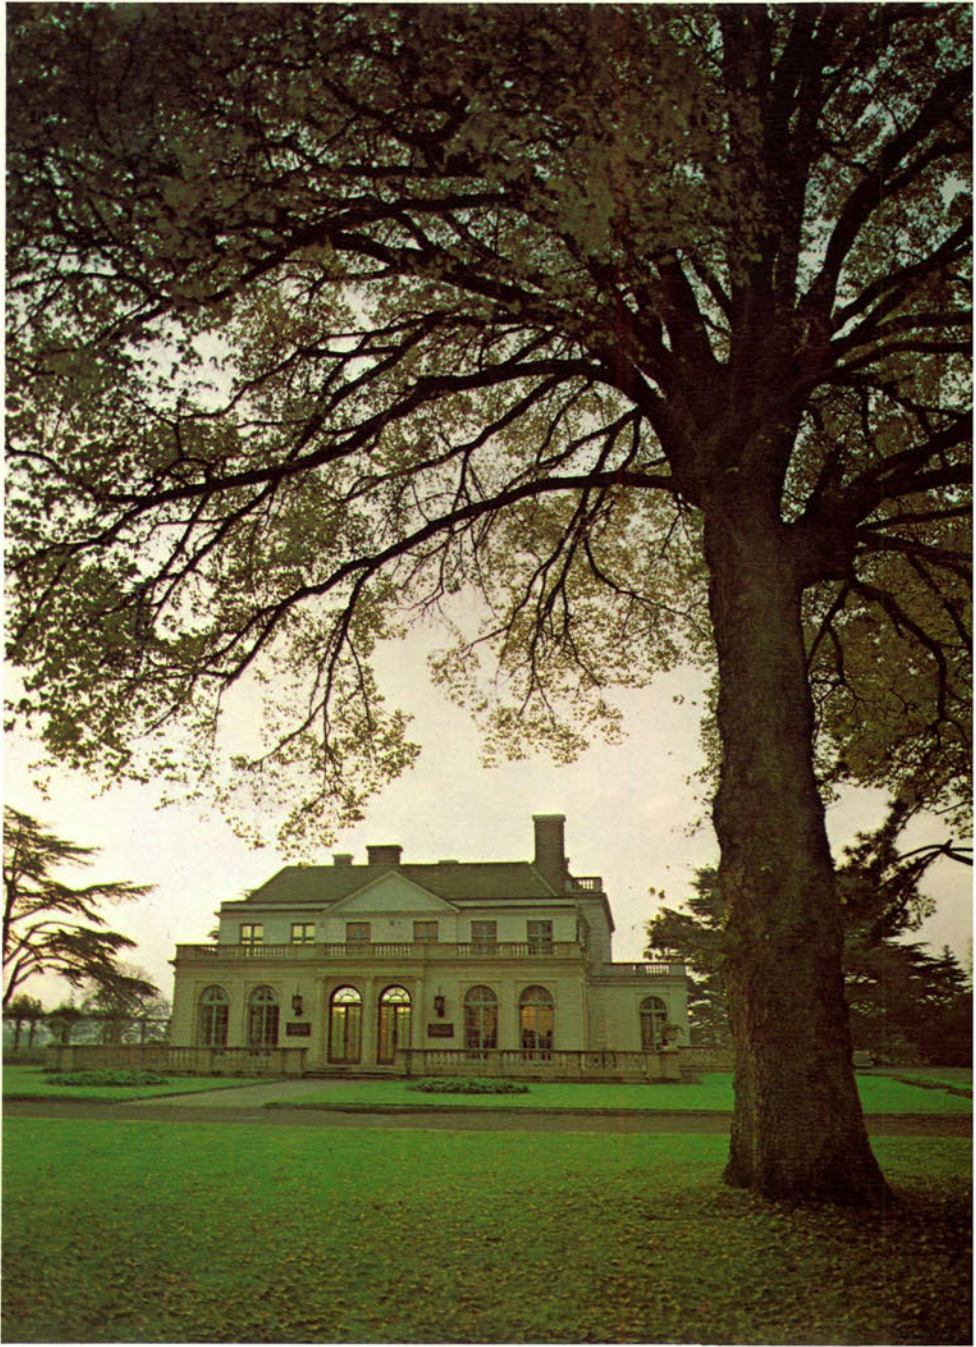

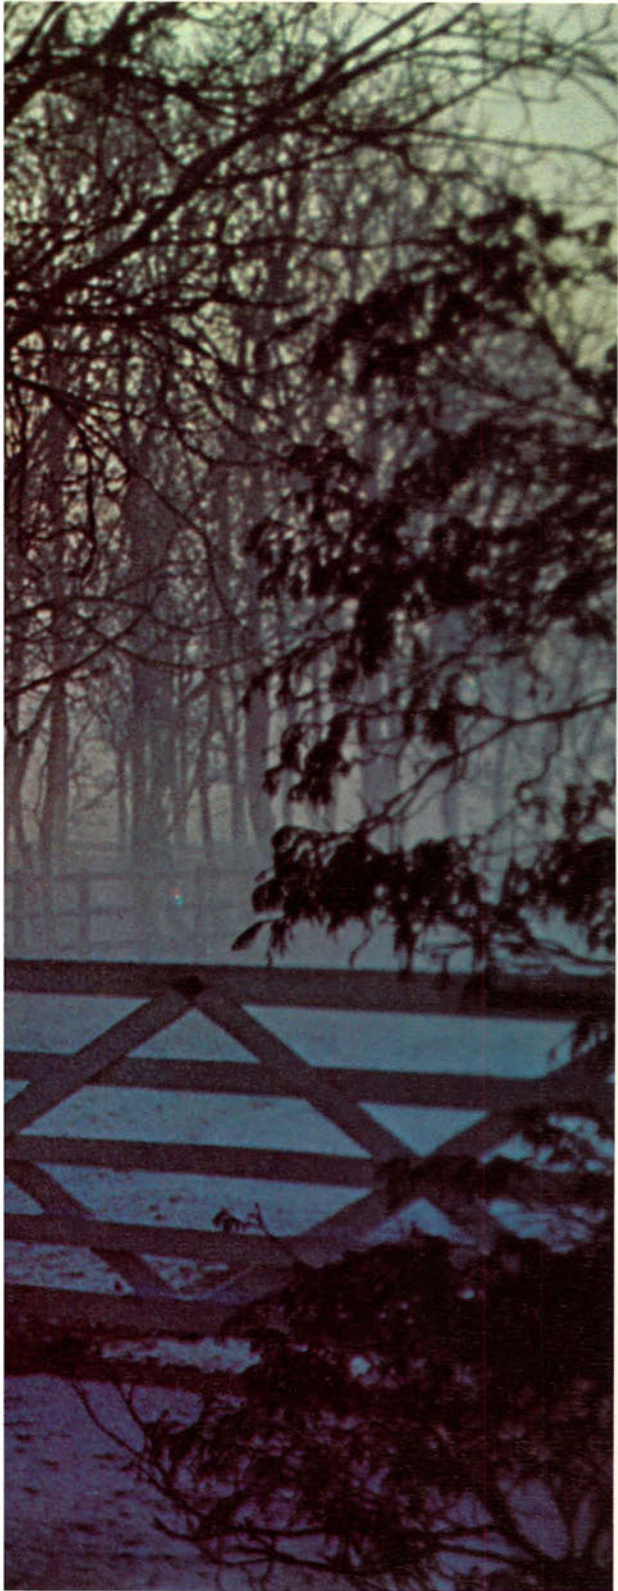

Morning In Bricket Wood

The mystical charm and personality of our British Campus, placed in the setting of the legendary Green Belt, is a unique experience enjoyed by each student willing to pause and consider the true beauty to be found here.

Archaeological “Dig”

Students from all three Ambassador College campuses have participated each summer for the past three years in an archaeological “dig” in the city of Jerusalem. Working in full collaboration with Hebrew University and the Department of Antiquities, Ambassador College began providing financial assistance to the archaeological project in 1968, and in 1969 began to provide summertime student manpower. The “dig” is located on the central part of a ridge stretching from the Temple Mount—Mount Moriah of the Bible—southward to the Pool of Siloam. In its present state it occupies a full five acres of land and in many places has been excavated to a depth of more than fifty feet. The direction and extent of future excavations depends largely on discoveries made day by day. Whatever its future course, the “Big Dig” certainly rates a place in archaeological annals as one of the most impressive and interesting excavations of all time.

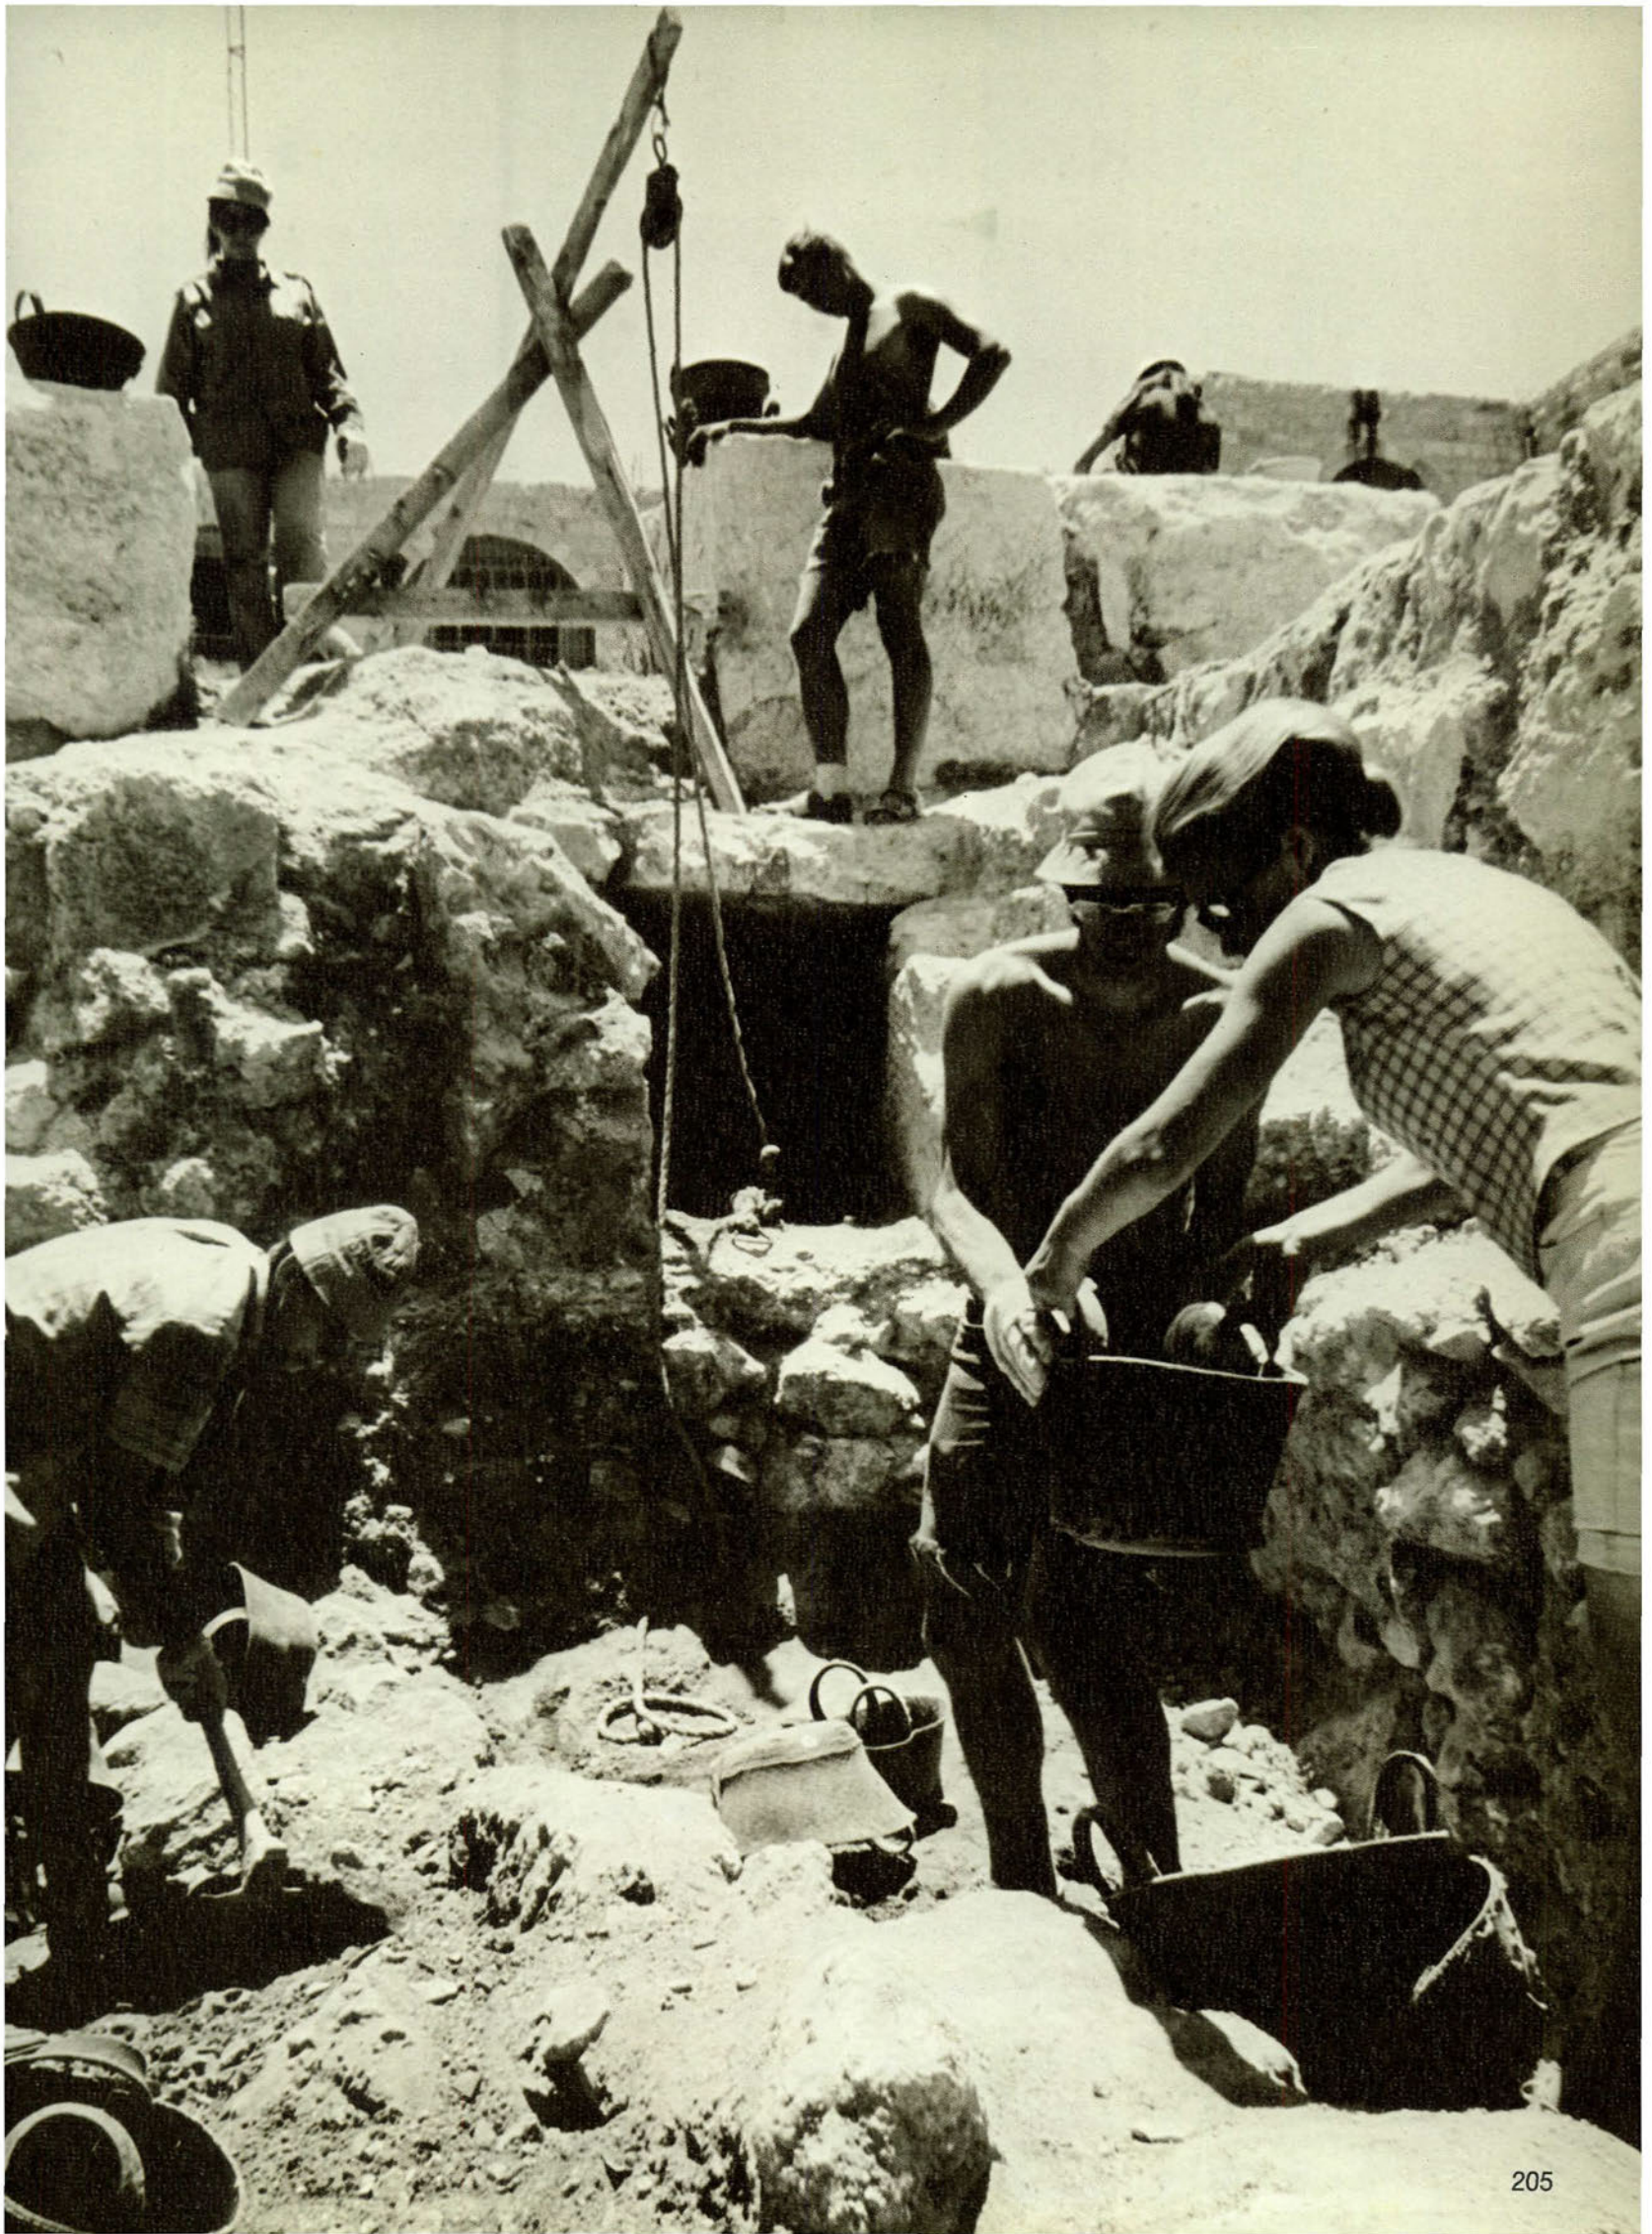

ABOVE: Basic equipment at the dig site is simple, the good old water jug being one of the more appreciated pieces!

MIDDLE: Dr. Ernest Martin's Archaeology class was one of the subjects studied during the stay in Israel last summer.

BOTTOM: The “family portrait” from summer '71!

OPPOSITE: A typical excavation scene on the site of the dig.

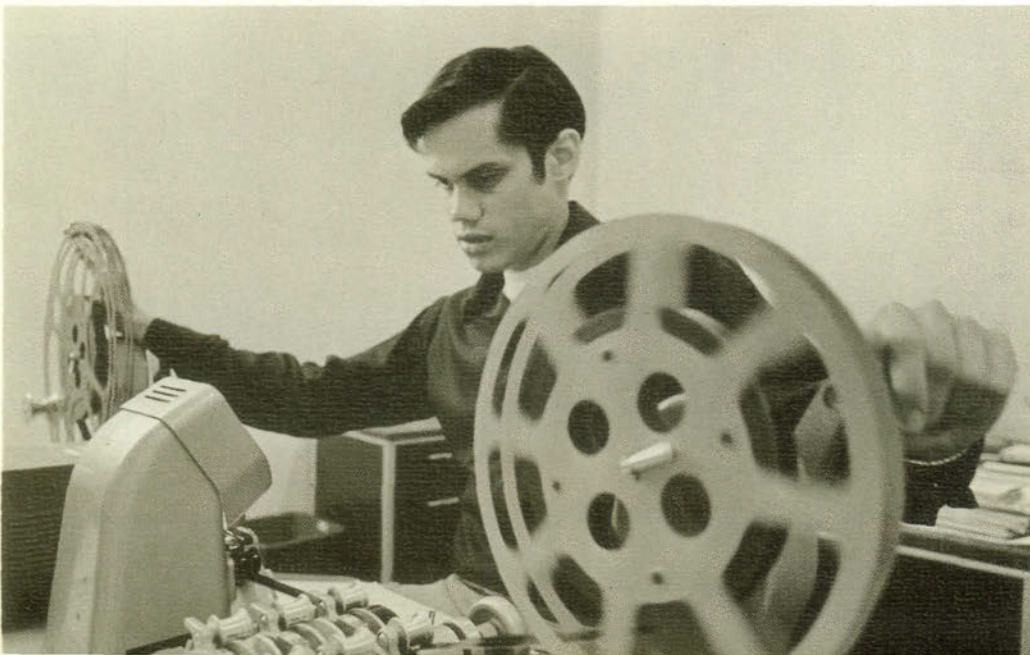

Our Big Sandy Campus...

entirely its own.

Student Employment

Ambassador College offers a unique opportunity to most students desiring employment during the school year. Nearly all campus departments employ students who qualify, providing them not only with that commodity chronically absent in the wallets of most students, but also making available valuable work experience and on-the-job training which may be useful after graduation. Quite often students who have developed a skill or knowledge on the job during college have become assets to their employers and are hired full-time following graduation.

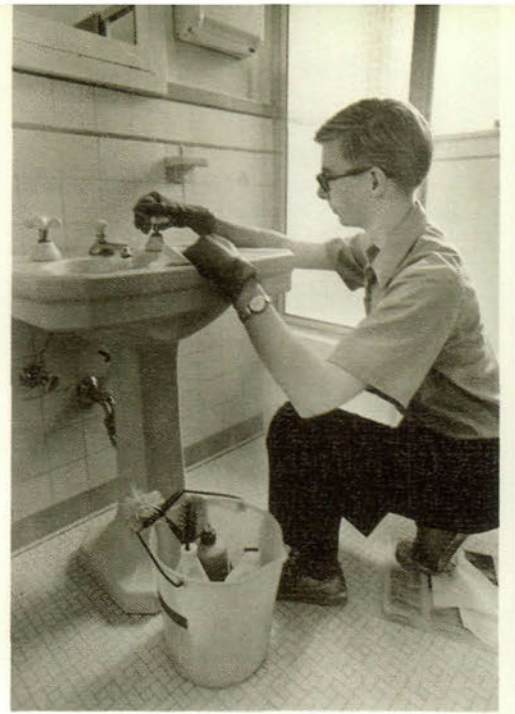

TOP LEFT: Here's the kind of smile that helps make the college bookstore such a success.

MIDDLE LEFT: Dozens of interesting and challenging jobs are provided by our Data Processing Center. Here you see a portion of our IBM Terminal section in the Mail Processing Department.

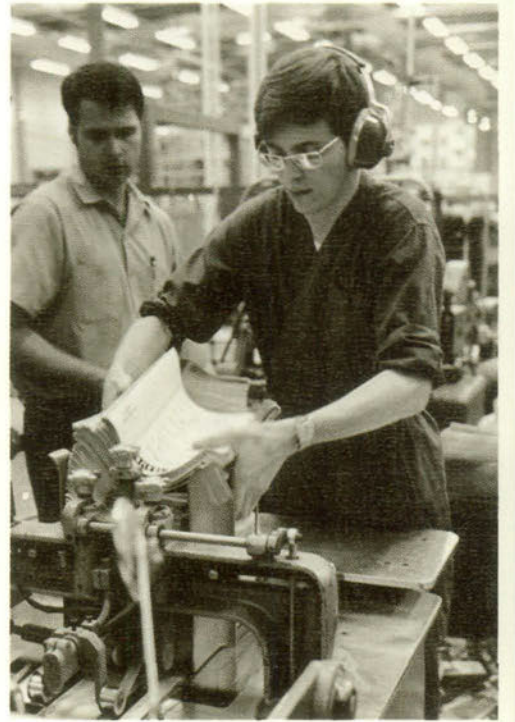

BELOW LEFT: Don Henson helps edit the thousands of feet of movie film shot each year by our TV Production Department.

OPPOSITE: John Elliott is only one of many students working part time in the highly technical area of television production.

Physical Education

An active and effective college life demands a vigorous and healthy body. Physical education facilities—including combined gymnasiums and natatoriums—together with top teaching staffs provide students the opportunity to reach and maintain excellent physical condition.

ABOVE LEFT: Swimming and water sports are enjoying great popularity at Ambassador with scheduled competition in most major events.

LEFT: Hiking and climbing claim the efforts of a growing number of our men as well as women. Here Monday "A" Ambassador Club "claims the mountain".

BOTTOM MIDDLE: Skiing is participated in by increasing numbers of both Bricket Wood and Pasadena students.

OPPOSITE TOP: There's a special kind of exhilaration that comes from an afternoon on the ice.

Basketball

Each winter season brings stiff competition between the classes and faculty of all three campuses in an intramural program culminating in a championship invitational tournament between our Big Sandy and Pasadena teams. While the competition is tough, there is no ill will between teams—because no matter who comes out ahead in points, Ambassador College still wins!

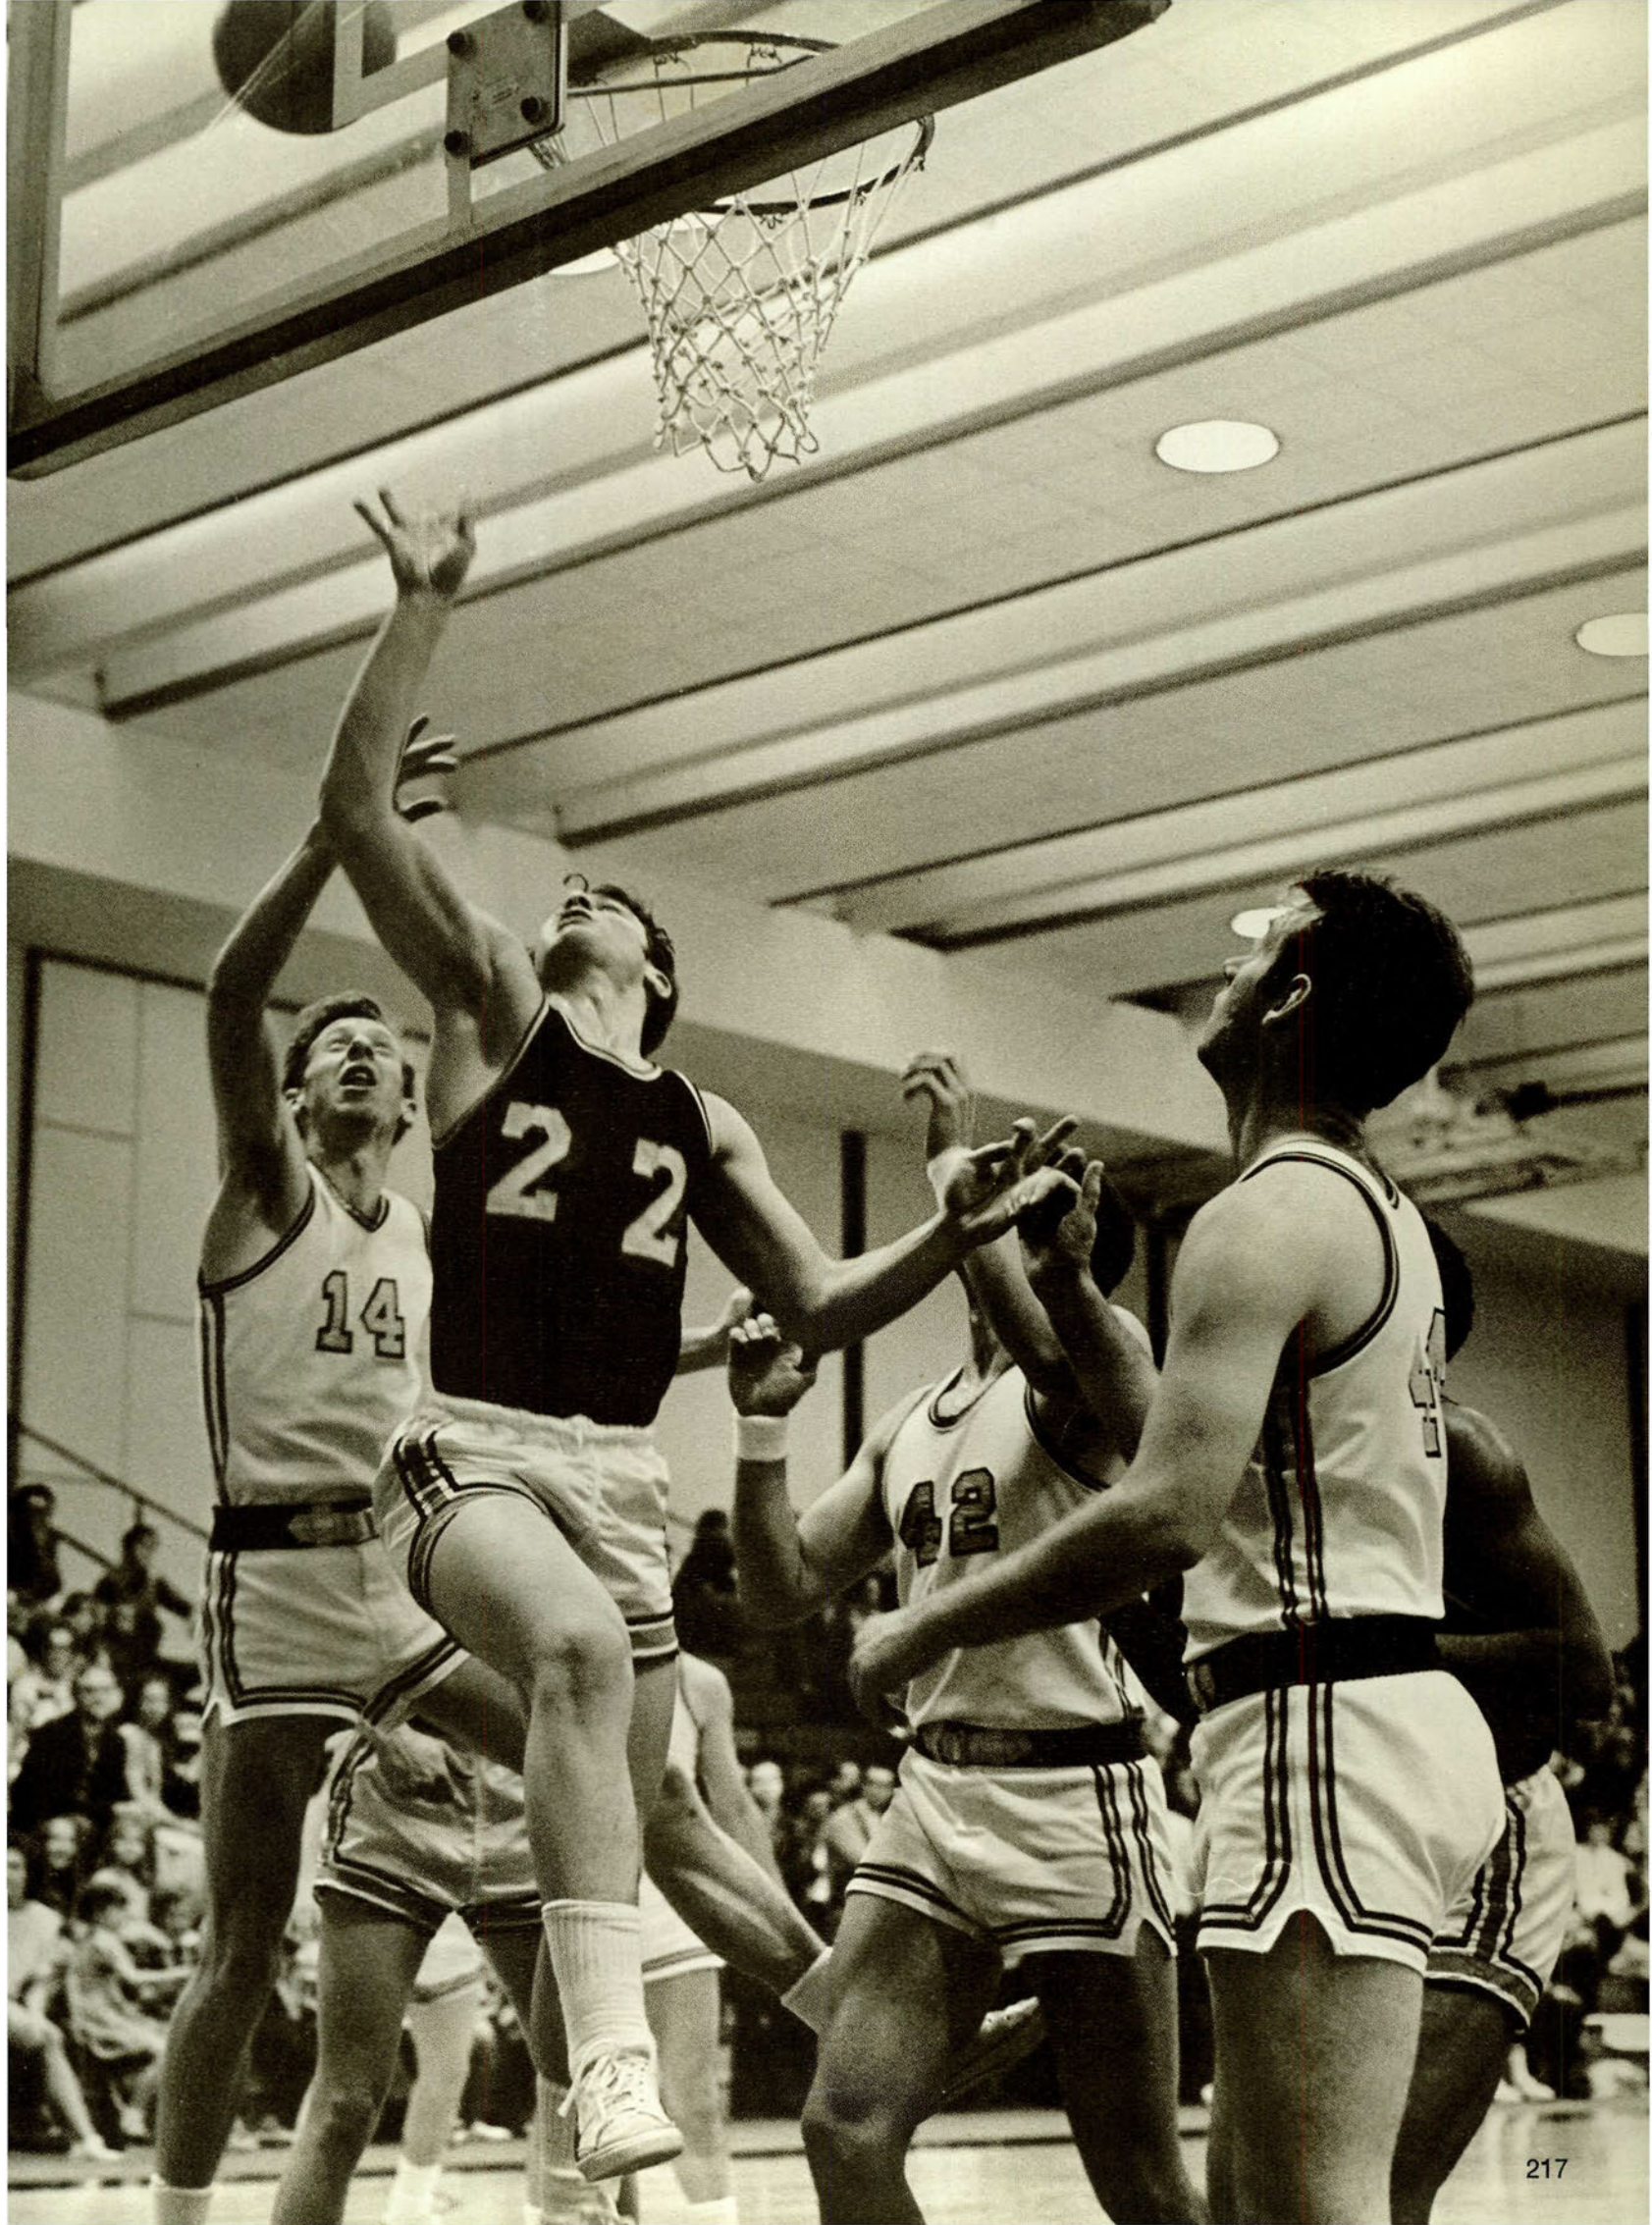

TOP: Junior cheerleader Denise Bryan demonstrates one reason why student enthusiasm for our intramural basketball season is always high.

MIDDLE: The Ambassador Invitational Basketball Tournament trophy was gladly accepted by Coach Kermit Nelson and the Big Sandy varsity.

FAR LEFT: Coach Paul Hunting tells the Bricket Wood Sophomore girls basketball team just exactly how it's to be done!

LEFT: A basketball game simply wouldn't feel complete without the band . . . and the little people who enjoy it in a very special way.

OPPOSITE: Here, in a hard-fought Faculty/Juniors game, Mel Inghima guarded by Mr. Jim Petty attempts a lay-up.

LEFT: A rigorous and popular sport on our Bricket Wood campus is the British version of football.

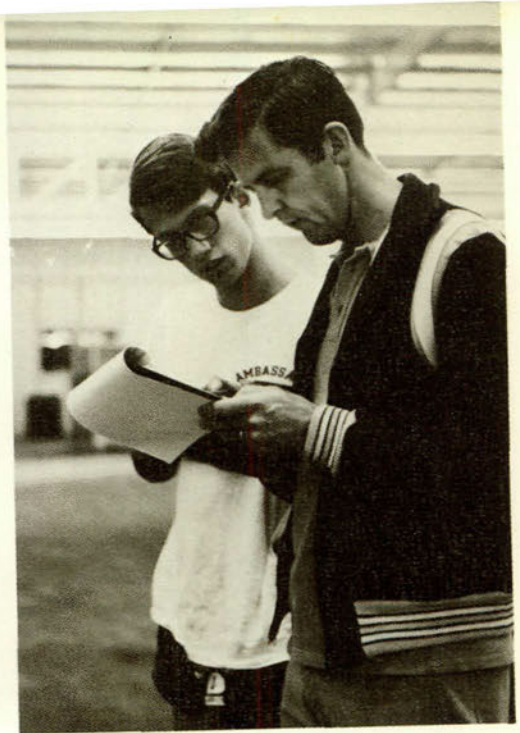

OPPOSITE LEFT: An important addition to our Big Sandy campus is the Convention Center which accommodates, indoors, most of the track and field events.

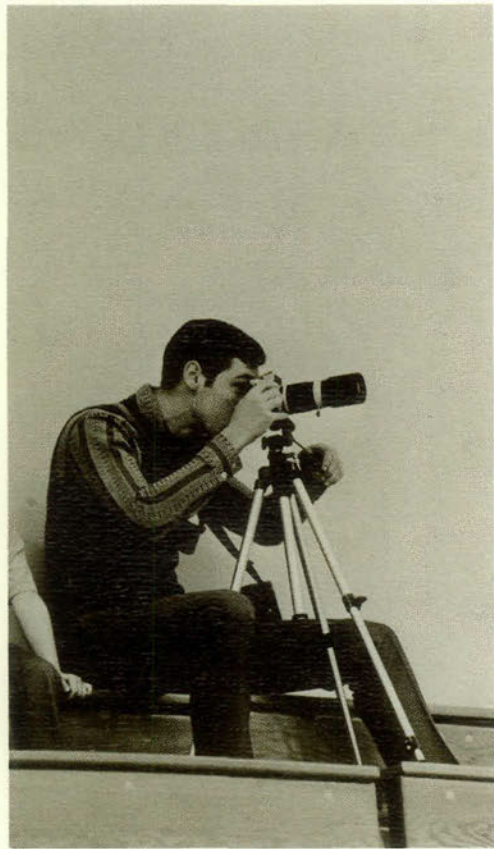

FAR RIGHT: Tony Prettyman and Mr. Ray Daly tabulate scores from the last event.

The Portfolio

The Portfolio, a weekly campus newspaper published by students of Journalism, is a vital and useful part of campus life. It reports mainly on events occurring on campus, recording them for the future as well as publishing them for the information of its readers. Although The Portfolio is written for the students, it also is an important link to many Ambassador College alumni by keeping them informed of the progress of events on campus. And most important of all, it is a valuable training ground for those students interested in improving their own writing efforts while serving others.

The ENVOY

The Ambassador College yearbook, while being edited and designed on the Pasadena campus, utilizes the skills of the photography departments found at all three of our college locations.
